

Kellerberrin Heritage Trail

1. Museum. Built in 1897, it has served as an Agricultural Hall, a school, a Courthouse, Road Board Offices and has been a Folk Museum since 1972.

2. Flour Mill. Originally constructed in 1910 of corrugated iron. Locally grown wheat was milled here. It is currently a seed cleaning business.

3. Old Fire Station, built from local granite in 1914 it is one of only two remaining purpose built fire stations opened during the decade 1910 - 1919. It currently houses the library and Telecentre.

Kellerberrin Folk Museum.

12. Kellerberrin Hill Lookout. Named 'Killaberrin' by the early explorer Charles Hunt during his 1864 - 1866 expeditions when he mapped a route east of York and constructed wells and dams.

4. Massingham House. Originally built by the Commonwealth Bank circa 1912, it was renamed in 1976 after Mr. C. Massingham, one of the earliest settlers in the district.

5. Post Office (1912). The present building was the third post office to be built in the area within 11 years. The first was at Doodlakine Well in 1891, and the second where the Dryandra Frail Aged Hostel now stands.

6. The Country Women's Association was established in 1931 as a supportive organisation for country women, and the first Rest Room was opened in Kellerberrin in December, 1934.

11. Preventorium. This building was constructed in 1928 as a Preventorium for asthmatic children and was run by Sisters of the Sacred Heart. It is currently used as an accommodation and function centre, The Prev.

10. War Memorial. Cut from the granite face of the Kellerberrin Hill, it was erected here in 1920 to commemorate the fallen of World War I..

9. St Joseph's R.C. Church (1916). Built 5 years after the establishment of the parish in the district.

8. Methodist Church (1910). Before construction of this church, early services were sometimes conducted in the early Post Office.

7. St John the Baptist Anglican Church. This church was built between 1909 and 1910 following the same architectural plans as were used for the Dowerin Church. In early days it was lit by gaslight.